

administrative costs incurred in connection with the development of an agricultural market development plan at any stage of its development.);

- A results-oriented means of measuring the success of the project or program; and
- A plan for graduating the project or program away from the use of any federal funds.

In addition to the above items, an agricultural market development plan or concept paper should also include information regarding:

- Credit terms that may be desired by a participant in connection with the underlying Title I, Pub. L. 480 agreement;
- The agricultural commodity to be purchased;
- The administrative capabilities of the agricultural trade organization to implement an agricultural market development plan;
- If the participant is a private entity, a description of security to be provided CCC to support repayment to CCC of the financing extended;
- A description of any other organizations that will be used in completing the project or program and how such organizations will be used;
- A planned budget summary of funds or commodities used in lieu of funds, in support of the project or program.

Interested parties have considerable latitude to exercise creativity in constructing proposals. In evaluating project proposals, CCC will consider the following factors:

- The organizational ability of the participant to complete the project or program;
- The size, in both budget and scope, of the proposed project or program, and the level of U.S. and private resources available;
- Anticipated cost to CCC in terms of initial financing and repayment terms;
- The likelihood of the market becoming a commercial market for U.S. agricultural commodities.

CCC will notify interested parties as to whether it determines that the submission describes a desirable agricultural market development plan and, if so, work with the organization to develop a final plan. After CCC approval of a final agricultural market development plan, CCC will develop and implement a Title I, Pub. L. 480 agreement with the participant designated in the plan. The Title I, Pub. L. 480 agreement will incorporate a requirement to use local currency proceeds to implement the plan.
